

Writing Like the Best Judges and Attorneys

It is said that your audience defines your style as a writer. For judges and attorneys, good legal writing is clear, concise, well-reasoned, and readable so that lawyers, parties, courts, and the public can easily understand what the law is - and for judges, why you ruled as you did. Understanding how to discuss and teach strong legal writing skills is the experienced writer and lecturer, Ross Guberman. Author of Point Taken: How to Write Like the World's Best Judges and Point Made: How to Write Like the Nation's Top Advocates, Mr. Guberman will discuss the techniques for effective legal writing, including clarity, conciseness, and logical structure. In this session, discussion points include:

- Learn about different techniques for effective and clear legal writing.
- Recognize and understand how to make your writing more persuasive.
- Discuss the various ways to develop strong and lasting writing habits.
- Learn about the importance of developing differing writing styles to enhance effective communication.

Presenter:

Ross Guberman

Ross Guberman, the CEO and Founder, is widely recognized as a leading authority in legal writing and education. His innovative approach culminated in BriefCatch. His deep expertise and unmatched experience has earned him the trust of the legal community:

- Judiciary's choice to train new federal judges
- Expert witness and frequent legal commentator
- Former law school adjunct professor
- Best-selling author of Point Made: How to Write Like the Nation's Top Advocates and Point Taken: How to Write Like the World's Best Judges
- Popular conference speaker
- Regular contributor to The New York Times and other news outlets