

Tom Leighton is Vice President of Content Acquisition and Judicial Relations for Thomson Reuters Legal and Tax businesses in the U.S., Canada and the United Kingdom. He has had a series of interesting and challenging roles in his thirty-two year career with West Publishing/Thomson Reuters following his service in the United States Navy Judge Advocate General's Corps and in private law practice. He serves on a number of law-related non-profit organizations including the American Inns of Court Foundation Board of Trustees, New York University Law School's Institute of Judicial Administration Board of Advisors, the United States Supreme Court Historical Society (also a member of the executive committee), the Minnesota Supreme Court Historical Society, the National Association of Women Judges Resource Board and the Books for Africa Jack Mason Law & Democracy Initiative Advisory Board. For his work with the Inns of Court in London he has been elected as an Honorary Master of the Bench, Inner Temple Inn of Court, London.