

Katherine Altener is the Consulting Senior Strategic Advisor to the Self-Represented Litigation Network (SRLN), connecting and educating lawyers, judges, and allied professionals who are creating innovative and evidence-based solutions so that self-represented litigants have meaningful access to the courts and get the legal help they need. Katherine also leads SRLN's geospatial initiative that uses public and private data to inform digital and human services design to create a fair and accessible justice system. Before joining SRLN in 2013, Ms. Altener spent her career in Alaska, initially as a trial court law clerk and then as a legal aid lawyer. In 2001, Ms. Altener joined the Alaska Court System to serve as the Founding Director of the nation's first comprehensive phone and internet-based court self-help center. In 2008, Ms. Altener established a successful unbundled practice and founded the first Unbundled Law Section of a state bar. Katherine serves in an advisory capacity to many access to justice organizations and initiatives including Voices for Civil Justice, the National Center for State Court's Justice for All Project, and is a Non-Resident Senior Fellow at the Georgetown Institute for Technology Law and Policy. She received the National Center for State Court's Distinguished Service Award in 2019 for her work to improve access to justice. She has a BA from Northwestern University, and JD from Seattle University School of Law. She resides in Virginia.
